A cash benefit on your savings

Leave your loved ones a cash lump sum when you die, with Life Savings Protection*

Saving with your Credit Union really does add up as it includes the additional benefit of Life Savings Protection, which can be a real financial comfort to your loved ones should you die.

At a difficult time, a lump sum on bereavement can be a real help. It could help towards funeral costs or could be left as a small legacy for a loved one. Additional peace of mind for your family is just another benefit of being a Credit Union member.

As a Credit Union member, you're not only saving for your own future, but also for that of your family. With the added benefit of Life Savings Protection, your nest egg can also provide a legacy to help your loved ones cope financially in the event of your death.
